

You Can't Lead Alone

Joe Torre

“I believe that if you’re going to get anything accomplished in life, you’re going to need someone to help,” said Joe at Leadercast Live 2018. “Teamwork is important.”

As a Hall-of-Fame baseball player and manager, Joe knows a few things about being part of a team.

Leaders must truly listen to each member on their team and allow them to share their problems. Listening builds trust, and trust builds commitment, he explained. Once a team member is committed, they feel responsible for doing their part to the best of their ability.

Part of leading others is helping them identify their next steps. “I always try to make it simple in my mind to help people have a path,” he said. “Part of being successful is being patient.”

Leadership Advice From the Ballpark:

- You can’t treat everyone the same because they’re all different people. But, you have to treat everyone fairly.
- The best leaders show up every day and give it their best. Lead by example.
- If you have bad news for a team member, deliver it yourself. It’s your job as their leader.
